Position:

Industry Participation Advocate

To implement the One Prequalification System reforms the Office of the Industry Advocate has established a South Australian Government Prequalification and Panel Handbook intended for both agency and industry use.

This Handbook provides a comprehensive listing of existing and forthcoming prequalification lists and panel arrangements undertaken by Agencies and details including the relevant agency point of contact, expiry date, instructions for other government Agencies to access the list and useful information for suppliers interested in applying to prequalify or for panel membership.

How to use this Handbook

South Australian Businesses:

The Handbook is intended to provide South Australian businesses with a deeper level of transparency of South Australian Government procurement practices relating to Prequalification and Panel contracts. Businesses should use this list to inform themselves of how they can gain access to South Australian Government prequalification lists and panels and in particular make use of contact persons within agencies for this to occur.

From 1 July 2014 there are no fees to prequalify.

Agencies:

Agencies are to use this Handbook to better understand their options when purchasing in the key spend categories of:

- Whole of Government
- ICT
- Works
- Education & Children's Services

Where a list or panel is available for Agencies to use it is not to be duplicated, meaning that, Agencies are not to create new panels unless there is a clear need identified by the Lead Agency. A directory of all Lead Agencies and their categories of responsibility can be found at Attachment 1.

Agencies should familiarise themselves with existing South Australian Government Prequalification and Panel arrangements and contact the responsible officer within the Lead Agency prior to independent procurement activity in that category.

Should an agency require an independent procurement activity for a category where an existing prequalification list or panel is already in place, the agency must first consider with the Lead Agency the options already available.

Please note: At this stage SA Water and Renewal SA are not captured by the full effect of this reform. Although data on SA Water and Renewal SA panel and prequalification undertakings have been provided within this handbook, these offices sit outside of the Lead Agency model, and the data is provided to inform industry only.

Disclaimer:

The information contained in this list is indicative only, was provided by public authorities at a point in time and is for planning purposes only. It does not represent an invitation for bids nor a pre-solicitation. It is not a commitment by the SA Government to purchase the described goods or services. All planned procurements are subject to change or cancellation without notice.

The SA Government and its officers do not accept responsibility for any loss, damage or legal liability arising from the use of, or reliance on, the information. Any person or entity relying on the information does so entirely at their own risk.

The list may only be updated on a biannual basis. For this reason and the others outlined above, it is strongly recommended that where appropriate, contact be made with the relevant agency to obtain further details
